

ID cards are just the tip of the iceberg...

the worst bit is the 'Database State', a simple term for a growing system of population surveillance and control, linked to ID cards. (See our webpage on www.no2id.net/dbstate.php)

Think of a number....

Ten things you can do:

① Help us with our street stalls. Giving out leaflets and taking petition signatures builds the resistance.

Events are listed on the NO2ID website Forum, and in bulletins.

② Tell your friends and other contacts (e.g. work, interest groups) why you're against the government's plans.

③ Wear your heart on your sleeve. Wear a NO2ID badge or T-Shirt.

④ Sign up for ID-ACTION – a mailing list for invitations to London events, such as having a NO2ID presence at festivals. www.no2id.net/getInvolved/volunteer.php

⑤ Spread the word online. You can comment on news stories on websites like the Evening Standard, Mail, Gazette.

⑥ Read up about the government's plans – the NO2ID website has readable articles. www.no2id.net

⑦ Come to NO2ID meetings to meet people who feel the same way as you, hear speakers and see films.

⑧ Join the NO2ID campaign as a member.

⑨ Lucky on the lottery? Or just feeling generous? Particularly if you can't be active, a donation or standing order really helps others to keep up the fight.

....and last but not least....

⑩ ...please do chip in with your own suggestions for local and other activities, particularly if you can help to organise something.

We need you! There is no obligation but all help is gratefully received.
